Washing instructions:

Most modern washing machines – especially front-loading European-style models – have a “Hand Wash” or “Delicates” setting that is perfectly fine for quality silk sheets.

1. Place your silk sheets in the laundry bag that we've included with your order.
2. Give your silk sheets the room they need to get cleaned: Wash them on their own, without any other items.
3. Keep the temperature cool (30° Celsius/85° Fahrenheit, or lower) and the detergent very mild. All of our products include a sample of Forever New® fabric care wash, which we recommend.
4. We love the smell of sheets dried on the clothesline, too, but keep in mind that direct sunlight may causes the silk sheets' color to fade, especially in darker-colored sheets. If you can't wait for a mild, cloudy day, then simply hang them over you shower curtain rod and they should be dry in the morning. Give your sheets a shake, and they're good to go!
5. You can machine dry your sheets. Simply use your dryer's lowest temperature setting or even better, set it to "air."
6. Once you put your sheets back on the bed, they will stretch out and any wrinkles will smooth out. Alternatively, you can simply fold sheets, pillow cases and even duvet covers and place them in your linen closet under weight of towels.
7. If you prefer a crisper look, use your iron's steam setting to ease out wrinkles, without making contact with the sheets. If you need to iron your sheets, do so on the duller side, using your iron's “silk” setting.
